Manufacturer Collection 2026.
Design meets concepts.

Natural colours, fully coordinated designs, innovative marketing concepts and new product ranges

Manufacturer has made its 2026 collection all about innovative product design and a wide range of new design options. To reflect this choice, this year's motto is "Design meets Concepts". At the heart of the presentation are natural colours and textures, coordinated design approaches, sophisticated solutions and fascinating motion. With 136 furnishing examples in over 5,000 square metres of exhibition space, Manufacturer presents new impulses for planning and designing kitchens, living rooms and bathrooms – and for the first time ever, bedrooms. The decision to add this segment marks the next consistent step in Manufacturer development into a system supplier for a home with a fully coordinated interior.

The need for a sense of calmness and safety defines home design more than ever before. In a world that seems to be turning a little faster each day, where every day is marked by uncertainty, people's homes turn into an essential haven of relaxation and well-being.

The new features for 2026 respond to this development. They focus on central topics, lifestyles and consumers' desires and combine serenity with individuality, creative freedom with clear orientation and functionality with timeless clarity.

Worlds of colour 2026.
Soft hues. Natural contrasts. Delicate textures.

By adding 13 new fronts, Manufacturer has expanded its collection with a modern palette of soft natural colours. The exhibition shines the spotlight on contemporary beige and brown hues - from Sand through Macchiato and Taupe grey to a deep Coffee. These are complemented by subtle elements in Stone grey and Olive. Whether in honed solid-coloured décors, with textured surfaces or as elegant framed fronts - the new designs set new standards in look, feel and quality and open up a wide range of design options for customised living.

Look in price group 1 provides new impulses. The fine texture with a ceramic look lends the design a natural radiance and exciting vitality. Look is available in the popular Sand textured colour and the new Coffee textured colour. Coffee represents natural warmth and elegance. This earthy brown hue radiates a cosy ambiance and creates harmony in modern and classic designs.

Discover the meeting of a success colour and a best-selling front! Ever since its market launch, the Softline program has been wowing customers with its perfect honed lacquer design. In 2026, two trend hues have been added to this highly successful program: Sand is one of the most popular colours in the Manufacturer collection and emphasises the restrained design language of this front. The new colour Coffee adds a warm, dark, intense hue to Softline. In addition to its modern diversity of colour, Softline features a high-quality feel, durable coating and innovative anti-fingerprint properties - offering added value you can feel in everyday use and a strong argument to convince consumers.

Real lacquered fronts with a high-gloss finish also remain in vogue: Manufacturer has therefore expanded its Novalux program to include taupe grey. The warm grey tone with a light brown component creates a high-quality and modern ambience.

The new colour Macchiato closes the gap between Sand and Taupe grey with a medium-depth hue. Macchiato adds a modern brownish-grey variant to the successful programs Laser in price group 1 and Senso in price group 3. The new shade is also available as a design colour for carcases and worktop décors and in the framed front segment.

Modern, versatile, perfect for everyday use: Manufacturer new cottage-style segment.

With six new framed fronts and brand-new design elements, Manufacturer cottage-style segment is more modern and versatile than ever before – and opens up even greater potential with an attractive entry-level price segment.

The new five-part framed front Frame combines modern cottage-style design with an elegant, delicate wood texture. Four modern hues - White, Macchiato, Stone blue and Olive - offer stylish choices in price group 4. The result is a fresh cottage style – modern, elegant and surprisingly versatile. The anti-fingerprint coating of the lacquered laminate surface makes Frame exceptionally easy to clean and therefore perfect for everyday use.

The popular framed programs Nordic and Sylt are being expanded with high-quality designs in genuine lacquer: Nordic is now available in Perfect honed black - an exciting combination of classic design and urban aesthetics, ideal for lovers of design that favour a cottage style. Sylt now also comes in Perfect honed sand, bringing with it natural elegance and timeless charm. Both fronts combine an exclusive look with practicality for everyday use, thanks to their time-tested anti-fingerprint coating.

New design elements for more customisation: The cottage style segment is getting an upgrade thanks to sophisticated new features such as the breakfast unit, shelf units with wine racks, glass cabinets with ribbed glass and wall shelves with console supports. These details open up space for creative freedom and emphasise the versatility of modern cottage-style kitchens.

Timeless design. Clean lines. Form and function.

Manufacturer Sakura design line follows the fashionable Japandi style - a clever fusion of Japanese clarity and Scandinavian cosiness. The elegant framed design in Como oak combines minimalist lines with refreshing modernity. The delicate 16 mm frame is created through use of extra-deep upright panels and cover panels; the Como oak bar handle adds an extra touch of style.

Upgrade for handleless designs

The trend toward minimalist designs opens up new options for modern kitchen planning. Line ONE puts the spotlight on handleless design with a clear end-to-end horizontal line - for maximum surface tranquillity and a balanced overall look. Line ONE combines the design versatility of Line N with the convenient push-to-open technology of the nBOX drawer system, reducing the design to just one recessed handle line directly beneath the worktop.

For 2026, another exclusive detail has been added to the handleless design: LED lighting in the vertical recessed handle. It creates a beautiful ambience with elegant, indirect light elements. On top of all that, new Curve options for sink units with softly curved end-of-run fronts create organic contours for an even more unique kitchen design.

Modern design, great convenience and new flexibility.

Manufacturer is expanding its worktop range with nine new décors, creating even greater opportunity for personal design ideas. The extra-narrow Slim Line worktop with a thickness of 16 mm is now even more versatile: In addition to the time-tested Como oak and Sand textured versions, two classy Xtra-honed variants in Alpine white and Macchiato are now also available.

Another highlight is the new 25 mm worktop. With its elegant look and five attractive décors, it opens up brand-new options for modern, customised and stylish kitchens.

nBox. Expansion with new design options.

The successful introduction of the innovative drawer and pull-out system nBOX represents a major milestone in the evolution of Manufacturer products. One unique added value provided by this system is its versatility, permitting various customisation options.
For 2026, Manufacturer is adding new, stylish design options: Design covers and profiles are now also available in Milano walnut and Anthracite metallic. Moreover, the glass sides for front pull-outs and internal pull-outs are now also available in Parsol glass, bronze.

New dynamics and clever use of space

With its intelligent expansions, functional details and innovative fittings, Manufacturer offers intelligent solutions that noticeably simplify and enrich everyday work in the kitchen.

One highlight of the new collection is the FurnSpin end unit. With its innovative pivot-swivel fitting, this piece of furniture is actually two-in-one: The base unit rotates completely around its own axis - the inside becomes the outside or vice versa. This makes bothersome doors or flaps that reduce the available workspace a problem of the past. Hidden hinges, cushioning and the push-to-open function make elegant design come together with maximum convenience.

New solutions for narrow spaces are also available: Diagonal units make rooms look wider thanks to their unique geometry, loosening up the design. They are perfect for designs that are pulled forward and provide an elegant alternative to classic unit types.

The new Air glass cabinets combine modern transparency with technical sophistication. A delicate aluminium frame in black with an integrated handle profile emphasises the restrained look, while fully hidden hinges create a particularly light and airy appearance. The glass cabinets can be equipped with an optional eye-catcher back panel; they are available both as a wall unit and as a tall unit solution.

Appliance innovations and highlights 2026

In the past five years, the BORA hot plate extractor fan GP4U, exclusively developed for Manufacturer, has turned into one of the best-selling individual appliances in the appliance range. Its successor GPNext gives the success model an extensive technical update.
This successor is based on the current Pure platform by BORA and features a unique user interface, an optimised nozzle design and a modern, clear print. GPNext is available in widths of 60 or 80 cm. The 80 cm version is also available with a bridging function.

Moreover, Manufacturer is adding the brand Electrolux to its appliance range in the 2026 collection.

nobi smart: Time-tested quality in a new entry-level price segment

The stagnation of residential construction and uncertainty among consumers are great challenges for the furniture industry. Even though demand has recovered slightly, price sensitivity among end customers remains high.

In response to this market situation, Manufacturer has been offering its retail partners a new product range, nobi smart, launched early this year. This range makes kitchens in the familiar Manufacturer quality available in a newly defined price group 0. This attractive pricing is possible thanks to a reduced, easy-to-plan range of types, affordable electric appliances by Manufacturer own brand Laurus and Manufacturer own range of fronts.

For the interiors, nobi smart makes use of the time-tested Profi+ pull-out mechanism while the overall Manufacturer range now comes standard with the innovative nBOX system. The lower product complexity means that the sales manual remains compact, making for a great introduction to kitchen planning, particularly for new salespeople.

In this new collection, four new fronts in consumer-friendly colours are being added to the product range: White, Sand, Reed green and Sanremo oak. Thanks to all of this, Manufacturer can offer its retail partners an attractive range for price-sensitive consumers - without trade-offs in quality and planning reliability.

More than kitchen
Manufacturer makes you feel at home.

In addition to offering kitchen, utility room, bathroom and living room furnishings, Manufacturer is now adding bedrooms to its coordinated furnishing concept. The new Dream concept provides plannable wardrobe solutions at attractive prices. Added matching chests of drawers, bedside consoles and accessories create a fully coordinated look, all from a single source - making the bedroom part of a harmonious concept for a feel-good ambiance throughout the whole home.

This addition to Manufacturer product range is the next step in its More Than Kitchen approach, positioning Manufacturer as a system supplier for a fully furnished home.

Dream bedroom concept
Simple. Plannable. From one source.

The core of the compact concept is a flexible wardrobe system that can be configured from base and attachment elements in two heights and four widths. The endless attachment system allows the wardrobes to be expanded as desired and customised with interior equipment such as compartment shelves, wardrobe rails, internal pull-outs or shelf unit inserts.

The system is available with hinged or sliding doors or can be used as an open solution for walk-in wardrobes.
The hinged doors come in four décors or as a mirrored design. The sliding doors are available either with a passe-partout frame directly on the carcase or in room height as a room element. Both variants use the time-tested Manufacturer sliding door system with 16 front designs and two track colours.
To complete the bedroom design, Manufacturer also offers chests of drawers, bedside consoles, wall shelves and mirrors.

Manufacturer developed its new wardrobe system in close collaboration with its partner raumplus. Manufacturer stores the wardrobes in disassembled condition and supplies them in a commission-based manner together with chests of drawers, bedside consoles and accessories, all from one source. The occasional furniture is part of Manufacturer extensive module set and is delivered pre-assembled.

The new Manufacturer bedroom concept offers easy planning and assembly, and quick pricing. Manufacturer focused particularly on these factors throughout the development process from product development to entering the data in Furnplan to simplify planning and ordering for its retail partners. The endless attachment system offers planning flexibility and customisable equipment options at attractive value for money.

Thanks to the coordinated colour concept, the bedroom range fits seamlessly into Manufacturer cross-room furnishing concepts. The compact occasional furniture combines flexibly with the entire Manufacturer range - for customisable and sophisticated planning, all from a single source.

Living range 2026: New impulses for contemporary living

For Manufacturer, contemporary living means customising rooms and giving them an unmistakable ambience. The expanded Living range offers flexible design elements, creating great versatility for modern furnishing solutions with a personality.

The new Ambia glass cabinets combine proven functionality with an exciting approach to design. Asymmetrical glass cut-outs make for a distinctive look, while additional options such as eye-catcher back panels in the unit or freely plannable wall panels create a beautiful home ambience with a modern flair. Integrated LED lights complement the concept and put a spotlight on the elegant glass cabinets.

Manufacturer genuine wood veneer furniture segment is also being expanded. Sideboards, bar flaps, wall panels, wall units or base units in Native Oak add natural warmth and a delicate texture to the living space and open up a broad range of planning options for fully-coordinated room concepts.

Another highlight is the new Butterfly pull-out mechanism for dining tables. It is sure to wow customers with its elegant movement and permits quick and simple extension of the tabletop. In the dining table, area Manufacturer combines time-tested genuine wood veneer panels with the distinctive Centro base frame to create a natural and modern look. The MOVE and TURN II upholstered chairs and armchairs complement the portfolio of comfortable seating solutions with new bouclé fabrics in Cashmere and Coffee.

The new media tray is an elegant solution for technology-loving households. The beautifully designed attachment features a glass shelf that looks like it is floating and contains a compartment for invisible cable management, thereby combining stylish design and practical function. Narrow plinth frames give sideboards and base units an even more elegant, floating look.

Bathroom inspiration

Manufacturer new bathroom solutions offer sophisticated concepts that combine design, function and quality. Clever new features and expansions create greater freedom of design, particularly for small bathrooms. From space-saving storage ideas through reduced carcase depths to modern design highlights, the 2026 collection offers versatile impulses for planning customised feel-good bathrooms.

Just as in the kitchen segment, the Japandi style is a central trend topic in bathrooms. With its Sakura design line, Manufacturer brings the characteristic combination of clarity and cosiness to the bathroom.

From intelligent storage solutions, to elegant light elements on mirrors to upright panels with illumination on the sides - these versatile products bring together beauty and function for rooms of any size, in any style. The new larder pull-out is equipped with the innovative nBOX pull-out system, providing end-to-end, high-quality functionality.

The handleless Line N range also offers some new features: The centred recessed handle underlines the minimalist elegance of this design, while illuminated upright panels emphasise the clean lines and create an impressive ambience. To complement the collection, Manufacturer presents new taps and hand basins that combine a modern look with great suitability for daily use.

Manufacturer in-house exhibition 2025

The Manufacturer in-house exhibition will take place September 20-30, 2025 in Verl. Last year more than 17,000 visitors took the opportunity to learn about new features and trends, right on location.
Once again, visitors will be able to combine their visit with a tour through Manufacturer assembly academy. Manufacturer will be offering a shuttle service for a convenient connection between the two locations.
